The idea that technology will pave the road to prosperity has been promoted through boom and bust. We hear that Facebook and Twitter create democratic revolutions across the world.

But is this just magical thinking?

In Digital Dead End, poor and working people share their insights about the real world of information technology, and offer strategies for addressing the injustices of the high-tech economy together.

Join us for a reading, signing, and lively discussion of how Bloomington can build an information age that works for everyone!

"Is Virginia Eubanks the Jane Addams of the digital age?"

- Douglas Schuler, author of Liberating Voices and New Community Networks: Wired for Change

APPEARING AT:

Wells Library, SLIS, Rm LI 030
Friday Nov 4, 2:00 PM
1320 E. 10th St., Indiana University, Bloomington, IN

For more information call (812) 855-2018

Or visit www.digitaldeadend.com

DIGITAL DEAD END
Fighting for Social Justice in the Information Age

Co-Sponsored by: [RKCSI Logo] ROB KLING CENTER FOR SOCIAL INFORMATICS